Further visa options for past 485 visa holders

As well as the extra 2 years available for 485 visas granted in some occupations .. those not benefitting from this may be able to apply for a TWO YEAR 408 pandemic visa as follows

 "Transitional arrangements are also in place to support other graduates.

Temporary Graduate visa holders in Australia whose visas expired or will expire between 1 September 2022 and 1 July 2023, or Temporary Graduate visa holders who were in Australia throughout the pandemic period and are therefore not eligible for the TGV Replacement stream, may be eligible for the COVID-19 Pandemic Event (subclass 408) visa with a 2-year stay period. You must be working in Australia or have an offer of employment. You must apply 90 days before your TGV expires, or 28 days after your TGV expires to be eligible for a Pandemic event visa. If you are granted a 408 Pandemic Event visa, you will not be eligible to then apply separately for an extended TGV. You should evaluate your options carefully before you apply. "

Vetassess update policy on documents and time limits for skills assessments:

We have changed our timeframes for applications that do not have complete documents. If any information or documents are missing from the application, we will provide 15 calendar days to submit them. If the outstanding documents are not submitted within the given timeframe, a final notice will be issued giving seven additional days before the application is closed without further communication.

You can request to reopen an application after providing all required documents and information. There will be an administrative fee of AUD$150 to reopen a closed application.

It is important to ensure you lodge a complete set of required documents when you apply, and this will avoid delays with processing of your application.

Delhi | Melbourne | London | Brampton

- 1. When applying for Priority Processing, you must have sufficient evidence supporting correct fee payment, proof of identity, qualification and employment claims ready to upload to the online form.
- 2. Returning applicants with a previous full skills assessment are not eligible to apply for a Priority Processing application under the same occupation which has been previously assessed, unless the overall outcome was positive and all previous periods of employment and qualifications were assessed positively.
- 3. Renewal applications are eligible for Priority Processing, provided all previous periods of employment and qualifications were assessed positively.
